Flames Shoot 100 Feet In Air During Blaze In Fairfield County; Home In South Bloomfield Leveled

Gas service was disrupted Tuesday night and Wednesday morning in Tarlton and Oakland and a South Bloomfield residence was destroyed in fires that swept two widely separated areas.

Circleville employees of the Gas Company were called to Oakland, Tuesday night, when a regulator station burned and gas flames shot into the air for about 100 feet. The station is in Clearcreek Township, Fairfield County.

WOLVES HARASS REDS

HELSINKI, Jan. 3.—A story of stark horror came from the frozen, barren wastes of the Petsamo Front today where a huge pack of Russian wolves was reported raising havoc with retreating, famished freezing Soviet troops.

The wolves were said to be following the Russian northern army relentlessly, feasting on the dead and wounded and even attacking Soviet patrols.

MURPHY URGES MORE CASH FOR JUSTICE OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Attorney General Frank Murphy told congress that the Department of Justice cannot effectively continue its warfare against espionage, sabotage and other illegal activities of foreign agents without an increased appropriation.

The youthful, red-headed cabinet officer, reporting on his first year's custodianship of the department, also recommended passage of legislation in 14 specific matters, including creation of 13 new federal judgeships to clear crowded court dockets.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, Murphy disclosed, investigated 1,651 complaints of espionage alone in the fiscal year ending last June 30. Since the European war began in September, the G-men have handled more than 200 sabotage and espionage complaints daily. Numerous indictments have been returned against foreign agents as a result of the department's campaign, with (Continued on Page Eight)

INTOXICATION CHARGED

Arthur J. Ford, 42, West Mound Street, was arrested at 2:45 a. m. Wednesday by the police department on a charge of operating an auto when intoxicated. Police said the auto driven by Ford struck a tree in front of the home of Miss Jane Sweetman, East Main Street. Ford escaped injury, police said, and his car was not badly damaged.

Dies Committee Favors Drive On 'Subversives'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Prosecution of the Communist party and the German-American Bund as agents of the Russian and German governments was demanded today by the Dies committee in a unanimous formal report to the house covering a 12-months inquiry into subversive activities.

The 18,000-word document declared the Communist party "is actually functioning as a 'border patrol' on American shores for a foreign power," and accused Russia of violating the 1933 Treaty of Recognition with the United States in which the Soviet Union solemnly pledged not to interfere in this country's domestic affairs. "Examination of testimony and evidence received can only leave the committee with the conclusion that the German-American Bund must be classified with the Communist party as an agent of a foreign government," the report added.

"Although at the present time it is difficult to establish the international ties of the Bund as clearly as in the case of the Communist party, no reasonable person can read the testimony on the Bund and believe other than the Bund is operating primarily in the interest of Germany.

"It is the urgent recommendation of this committee that the proper authorities enforce most vigorously and conscientiously all laws applying to organizations whose obvious objectives can be no other than to destroy the American form of government at the direction and in the interest of foreign powers."

18 Killed In Minneapolis Flames

She's at Calais

MISS Unity Freeman-Mitford, shown above, has been located at Calais, France, enroute to England from Germany. She planned to depart for England during the morning, presumably heading for Folkestone where her father, Lord Redesdale, was awaiting her. Miss Freeman-Mitford is reported to be suffering from a head wound. The girl's transportation, it is reported, was arranged by Fuchrer Adolf Hitler, a reputed friend of the British girl.

SWEDISH FREIGHT CARRIER STRUCK BY GERMAN SUB

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—A Swedish freighter under the flag of neutral Sweden today reported herself the victim of a German submarine attack in mid-Atlantic and in immediate need of assistance.

First word of the plight of the ship, the S. S. Kiruna owned by Grangesberg-Oxelosund of Stockholm, came from Mackay Radio's New York office.

Mackay Radio reported interception of an S.O.S. from the disabled ship at 7:30 a. m., and quoted the Kiruna's distress call as follows:

"Position 42.50 north, 25.10 west . . . have been fired at by U-boat . . . sinking slowly . . . require assistance."

That was all. There was no hint as to whether the Kiruna had been torpedoed or disabled by shell fire from the submarine.

The position flashed by the Kiruna is far out in the Atlantic, subject at this season to sub-zero gales which whip up mountainous seas. If the Kiruna is still afloat, she is battling to keep headway at a point about 1600 miles due east of Cape Breton.

The Kiruna is a good-sized craft of 5,484 tons, probably carrying a crew of between 30 and 40 men. She was built in Gothenburg in 1921.

TALLINN, Estonia, Jan. 3.—Anxiety was expressed in Estonian shipping circles today for the safety of the 1,173-ton Estonian steamer Minna, chartered for voyages on the North Sea, which has been missing with its crew of 17 since December 11. It was believed the vessel struck a mine.

LONDON LEARNS OF TRAIN WRECK ON SOVIET LINE

LONDON, Jan. 3.—A serious accident on Soviet Russia's Leningrad-Murmansk railroad in which hundreds of soldiers lost their lives in the wreckage of a troop train was reported in London today.

A radio broadcast from Stockholm and a dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph said the train leaped the rails and rolled down a steep embankment.

Whether the accident resulted from activities of Finnish "suicide patrols" which have penetrated Soviet territory or from other causes was not ascertained, the advices said.

FIREMEN FIGHT HOTEL BLAZE IN ZERO WEATHER

More Bodies Hunted With At Least 40 Known To Be Hurt, Overcome

EXPLOSION IS BLAMED

Extreme Cold Hinders Work Of Rescue Crews When Ice Forms Quickly

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 3.—Eighteen bodies were recovered from the blazing Marlborough apartment hotel today and fire department searching squads continued to comb the still-smouldering building as officials feared the death toll may mount higher.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 3.—At least nine persons were killed and more than 40 burned or overcome by smoke today when fire gutted the three-story Marlborough apartment hotel on the fringe of the Minneapolis downtown business district.

Squads of firemen were sent into the burning building to search for more bodies, as officials said it would have been impossible for many of the third floor residents to escape from the fire that spread after an early-morning explosion. Fire officials were unable to determine immediately the cause of the explosion.

Only one of the dead was immediately identified. She was Florence Hessing, 30.

The Marlborough was a residential hotel. Approximately 200 persons lived in the 80 apartments.

Mercury Five Below

Fire officials were unable to make an accurate check on the number of persons who escaped from the building as the temperature of five below zero forced the refugees to scatter for shelter in neighboring stores and apartment houses. The residents were (Continued on Page Eight)

KENNEDY TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR'S POST IN STATE

CLEVELAND, Jan. 3.—With the declaration that Ohio has "failed to show leadership in the relief and unemployment situation and will not honestly face the facts," former Secretary of State William J. Kennedy formally entered the race today for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Kennedy is the second Democrat to declare his candidacy. Former Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy announced several weeks ago that he was a candidate.

Kennedy had no comment to make regarding the plan of Francis W. Poulson, former Democratic state chairman, that party leaders get together and decide on a candidate who they would support.

In most northeastern Democratic circles it was learned, however, that several leaders were not pleased with Poulson's proposal and did not consider it a move that would solve the bitter inter-party feud among the Democrats.

Kennedy, who has not been backward in letting all know he would be a candidate, took a firm stand on relief, civil service and old age pensions in announcing his candidacy.

BANK CALLS ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The U. S. Comptroller General today issued a call for the condition of all national banks as of the close of business December 30.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 3.—The state banking department today issued a call for all state banks to report their condition as of the close of business, December 30.

CINCINNATIANS UNABLE TO BREAK MAYOR'S DEADLOCK

CINCINNATI, Jan. 3.—While charges and counter-charges flew thick and fast, Cincinnati's deadlocked council today continued its efforts to elect a mayor.

Center of the controversy was Councilman Herbert Bigelow, author of the "50 at 60" plan which was defeated at the polls last November.

Bigelow refused to align with either the four Republicans or four Charterites, thus blocking election of a mayor.

The Charterites accused denied Republican assertions that they had made a "deal" with Bigelow whereby he would vote for their mayoralty candidate, Councilman Charles P. Taft. The Republicans were backing former Mayor James G. Stewart.

COUNTY FIXES APPROPRIATIONS

Budget For Next Year To Be Nearly Same As For 1939

Appropriations from the general fund in the 1940 budget of the Pickaway County Commissioners, approved Tuesday, varies only $145.80 from the total of the 1939 budget.

Total of the general fund appropriation in the budget for 1940 is $217,000. Last year it was $217,145.80.

The county auditor's department reported three changes in appropriations outside the general fund. For 1940 an appropriation of $21,000 was made for dependent children and $9,000 for the blind, but they explained that only one third of these amounts would be paid by the county. The remainder is shared by the state and federal government.

The appropriation for bonds this year is $17,600, compared with $28,000 last year. The reduction is possible due to retirement of some bonds. In the appropriation for road purposes, practically the same as last year, is listed $104,700 from the auto license and gasoline taxes and $1,500 for the salary of a patrolman and his equipment. The dog and kennel fund appropriation is $4,500.

Appropriations from the general fund, practically the same throughout as last year, are: commissioners $11,177.40, general office expense $3,250; courthouse and jail, $13,900; county home $10,160; justices' and mayors' courts $650; charity $9,000; soldiers' burial $1,400; agriculture $4,600; miscellaneous county expenses $29,200; county auditor $9,960; assessing personal property $1,200; assessing real property $1,200; board of elections $9,000; treasurer $6,580; recorder $2,800; prosecuting attorney $4,700; Court of Appeals $400; Common Pleas Court $12,000; Probate Court $6,060; Juvenile Court $9,300; clerk of courts $4,895; coroner $500; sheriff $11,935; Children's home trustees $11,500; county engineer $8,562; ditch fund $500; Soldiers' Relief Commission $7,420; and unanticipated emergencies $22,150.60.

European Bulletins

MOSCOW—Still more military reservists were called up in Moscow and other points in the Soviet Union early this week, it was reported today. Authorities were said to have concentrated particularly on reservists with technical training.

NEW YORK—A total of $101,073 had been raised up to December 24 by 220 of the 1200 newspapers participating in the Finnish relief fund campaign, Herbert Hoover, the national chairman, reported today. Many other newspapers are holding up their contributions until they can send a single large check, he added.

GIRL, 28, ADMITS KILLING MOTHER WITH HER SCARF

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 3.—Mrs. Helen G. West, health service secretary of West Virginia University, was found strangled to death in her Pittsburgh hotel room today shortly after police reported her daughter attempted suicide in a leap from the sixth floor quarters.

The daughter, Agnes, 28, who was reported not in a critical condition, calmly confessed strangling her mother with a scarf in their room about 8:30 o'clock last night, police said. She was taken to Allegheny General Hospital where she was questioned by detectives.

Mrs. West, in addition to her post as secretary of the Morgantown institution's Health Service, was a former preceptress at the women's dormitory on the West Virginia campus. She was the (Continued on Page Eight)

PARLIAMENT OF FINLAND MEETS FOR VITAL TALK

General Conduct Of Soviet War To Be Discussed At Important Gathering

GALE HALTS ACTIVITY

Heavy Snow Storms Whirl Over All Fronts; Red Planes Grounded

HELSINKI, Jan. 3.—While raging snow storms called a temporary halt to air attacks and major land fighting, Finland's parliament was called to meet in special session today.

Questions to be placed before the legislators for a decision were not revealed, but it was believed certain that they would relate to matters of Finland's defense against the Soviet invasion and the general conduct of the war.

Heavy snow storms raged virtually throughout the entire nation. A driving blizzard on the Carelian Isthmus reduced visibility to "zero" there and halted a Russian drive against the Mannerheim Line virtually in its tracks.

Aerial activity and other types of warfare on all fronts was reduced to a minimum as temperatures fell as low as 20 below zero in the south and 40 below in the north.

Despite the temporary lull in Carelia, it appeared that the Russians facing the Mannerheim Line are preparing for a major offensive there as soon as the weather permits.

Finnish authorities in Helsinki, however, expressed confidence that any Russian drive against the fortifications stretching across the Isthmus would be doomed to failure.

Materials Being Moved

Despite the trapping of 10,000 Russians by Finnish ski fighters on the Petsamo Front, great quantities of war materials and supplies were still being landed near Petsamo by the Soviets.

It appeared that the Russians, despite their reverses on the Polar Front, were determined to (Continued on Page Eight)

MARKET CLIMBS AGAIN; TRADING BECOMES ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Initial stock market dealings today brought a continuation of the advance started in the New Year's first session yesterday.

Trading was moderately active and gains ran to a point in several of the leaders. Virtually all sections participated, except for a few individual issues.

U. S. Steel gained a point on a sale of 1,500 shares at 67 1/2. Bethlehem at 82 1/2 and Union Carbide at 88 also were a point above last night's closings. Sears Roebuck advanced 3/4 to 86 1/2.

General Motors started unchanged on a block of 2,000 shares at 55, while Chrysler moved up 1/4. Fractional gains also were chalked up by General Electric, Anaconda, American Telephone, Du Pont, United Aircraft and Kennecott.

Opening stock prices follow: Bethlehem Steel 82 1/2, up 1/2; U. S. Steel 67 1/2, up 1/2; Chrysler 90 1/2, up 1/4; General Motors 55, unchanged; N. Y. Central 18 1/2, up 1/4; Southern Pacific 14 1/2, same; Anaconda 30 1/2, up 1/4; Kennecott Copper 38, up 1/4; DuPont 18 3/4, up 1/4; Sears Roebuck 86 1/2, up 3/4; American Telephone 171 1/2, up 1/4.

TWO QUESTIONED ABOUT NOTE FOR $2,000 RANSOM

CANTON, Jan. 3.—FBI agents continued questioning today of two women in connection with the $2,000 ransom note received by Mrs. Annie Marshall, mother of 18-year-old Annie Hutchinson, who has been missing since December 1.

The women, one from Canton and the other from Akron, were held in jail here, but Capt. Elmer Clark of the detective squad said agents had been unable to learn anything new about the high school senior's disappearance.

Rev. D. P. Montgomery of the Pleasant Grove United Presbyterian Church, Youngstown, said he officiated at the marriage of the Hutchinson girl and Donald Stone on November 25. No trace has been found of the couple since.

POLITICAL UNITY TO OPPOSE WAR DANGERS URGED

Congress In Its Opening Session Hears Warning Of Grave Crisis

ISOLATIONISTS SCORED

Administration To Keep Eyes On Domestic Problems, Too

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—President Roosevelt today asked congress to levy a special "national defense" tax for army-navy increases and called on the nation and all political units to present a solid front in combatting ill-effects of Europe's war on the United States.

Making the traditional address on "the state of the union" in person to the convening congress, Mr. Roosevelt promised to continue America's efforts to bring about peace abroad and again asserted his conviction that this nation would not become involved in foreign conflict.

War Our Business

But the President warned that no one could say Europe's war "is none of our business."

"The social and economic forces which have been mismanaged abroad until they have resulted in revolution, dictatorship and war are the same as those which we here are struggling to adjust peacefully at home," he told an intent chamber.

The chief executive ridiculed isolationists who would seek to sustain themselves within a high tariff wall as he made a strong plea for extension of the Trade Agreements act. The administration is seeking flexible application of reciprocal trade agreements by the secretary of state without further recourse to congress.

Looking across the sea, Mr. Roosevelt painted a black picture of dictatorship and vicious aggression which had swept personal and religious liberties to the winds. He pleaded strongly for national unity at home to prevent those forces from getting a foothold on American shores.

Most On Foreign Affairs

More than half of the President's 3,200-message was devoted to foreign affairs because, he explained, "the impact of wars abroad makes it natural to approach 'the state of the union' through their discussion.

At the same time, the President promised that his administration was "not abandoning, or even overlooking, the great significance of its domestic policies."

The "national defense tax" proposed by Mr. Roosevelt already had been forecast. At Thanksgiving time in Warm Springs the chief executive said congress would have to decide whether it would impose taxes or continue borrowing to meet an emergency national defense item of $500,000,000 he intended to propose. This half-billion, added to normal military expenditures, will bring next year's national defense budget to a new all-time peace high of approximately $2,300,000,000.

No Figures Fixed

In today's message the President set no figures, pointing out they would be forthcoming tomorrow in his annual budget message.

In his constantly recurring appeal for national unity the President scoffed at efforts to set up any political party or bloc as "the peace party."

"Already the crash of swiftly moving events over the earth has made us all think with a longer view," he said. "Fortunately, that thinking can not be controlled by partisanship. The time is long past when any political party or any political group can curry or capture public favor by labeling itself the 'peace party' or the 'peace bloc.' That label belongs to the whole United States and to every right thinking man, woman and child within it."

Turning to the isolationists, whom he turned "ostriches" with their heads buried in the sand, the President declared that the domestic well-being of 130,000,000 Americans is deeply affected by the (Continued on Page Eight)

Mountain Community Is Thriftiest in Nation, Its Inhabitants Claim

Emporium, Pa., Has Bank Balance Sufficient To Run Town For 15 Years Without Taxes

Emporium, Pa., a mountain community of 4,000 inhabitants, claims to be the nation's thriftiest community.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 3.—Pennsylvania today held a claimant to the title of the country's thriftiest community!

It is Emporium, Pa., a mountain community of 4,000 people, situated in north central Pennsylvania, and it wants all and sundry, including Redding, Conn., which not so long ago claimed the title, to know of it.

The Connecticut community, which is smaller, boasted that it had a bank balance of $79,268, to which Emporium proudly points to a bank balance of $326,468.

This, Emporiumites hasten to add, is sufficient to run the community for 15 years without levying taxes or borrowing. If divided among the community's inhabitants it would provide every man, woman and child with $81.61.

Not a Penny Owed

The community is completely solvent, not owing a penny. Furthermore, it runs each year at a profit despite its low taxes which amount to 90 cents per $100 of assessed valuation plus a special one-mill tax for the town library imposed last year. In comparison, Redding's tax rate is 40 cents higher.

The community is run at a profit which amounted last year to $16,391. It took in $38,178 and Mrs. Harry Morris were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stevenson and daughter of near New Holland, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morris and family.

Effective with the broadcast of Sunday, January 7, Mr. District Attorney will be renewed for another thirteen week period. On the air all last summer as a substitute program for Bob Hope, Mr. D. A. was renewed and shifted from the NBC-Red to the NBC-Blue network in September. This second renewal will carry it well in to the spring radio season. As in the past, Ed Byron will continue to direct and Jay Jostyn will play the title role, assisted by Arlene Francis, Ethel Owen, Frank Lovejoy and Len Doyle. Harry Salter's orchestra will also continue with the show.

SENATOR FORD

Commencing Saturday, January 6, Senator Ford, old time vodvil comedian, will become almost a regular on Milton Berle's Stop Me If You've Heard This One when he joins the gagbusters for a four week stretch. Gale Page will be his feminine lead and music will be under the baton of Harry Sosnick.

Now that everybody has given "Oh, Johnny, Oh" a workout on the networks, Kay Kyser is going to lend new emphasis to the revived tune with a special arrangement on his "College of Musical Knowledge" over the NBC-Red network Wednesday at 10. His orchestra will also play "The Little Red Fox" from Kyser's picture; "El Rancho Grande" and "Beer Barrel Polka." Vocals include "Lilacs in the Rain" by Ginny Simms; "Goody Goodbye" and "Stop It's Wonderful" by Sully Mason; "My Prayer" by Harry Babbitt and a duet of "South of the Border" by Babbitt and Ginny

BRITISH ENVOY QUILTS MOSCOW ON 'VACATION'

MOSCOW, Jan. 3.—Ostensibly for a vacation, Sir William Seeds, British ambassador to Moscow, was en route to England today amid rumors that the strain in Anglo-Soviet diplomatic relations is increasing.

Sir William, who previously paid a farewell visit to Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, en-trained last night for Bucharest, whence he will proceed to London.

His departure aroused rumors of a possible rift between England and Russia, particularly in view of British intentions to aid Finland against the Soviets.

Two Districts of Ohio Need New Congressmen

COLUMBUS, Jan. 3.—Democratic and Republican party leaders and voters in nine Ohio counties today awaited Governor Bricker's decision on an election date to fill two Congressional posts vacated by recent deaths.

The unexpired terms are those of the late Congressmen Chester C. Bolton in the 22nd district, comprised of Cuyahoga, Geauga and Lake counties, and William A. Ashbrook, from the 17th, made up of Ashland, Richland, Delaware, Licking, Knox and Coshocton counties.

Following the death of Bolton, Bricker said he would not call a special election immediately because the cost would be prohibitive. The cost in the 22nd Congressional district was set at $30,000, while it was estimated that an election in the 17th would entail an expenditure of $20,000, which the counties affected would have to bear.

No Date Established

While federal and state statutes provide that the governor must call an election to fill Congressional posts vacated because of deaths or resignations, they are not specific as to when they must be called. Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert's office explained that Bricker could postpone calling for special balloting until the regular November election.

However, one of Herbert's aides explained, the chief executive must designate the date within a "reasonable time" after the vacancy occurs.

Bricker's aides indicated, however, that the governor probably would designate the May primary as the special election. This would necessitate holding an extra primary at least 25 days prior to the

MEN WHO AIDED MANNERHEIM GO TO HELP SOVIET

LONDON, Jan. 3.—A German military mission composed largely of Reich officers who aided Baron Karl Mannerheim, Finnish military chieftain, against the Bolsheviks in 1918 has been sent to Leningrad in response to a request by Soviet Dictator Josef Stalin, the London News Chronicle reported today in an Amsterdam dispatch.

The report said the German war office had considerable difficulty in persuading the men who fought beside Baron Mannerheim 22 years ago to go to the assistance of Russia against Finland now.

ASHVILLE'S NEW OFFICIAL FAMILY HOLDS MEETING

All Members Of Council On Hand For Organization Conference

COMMITTEES SELECTED

Mayor Hines Appoints Men To Various Posts And Lists Committees

By S. D. Fridley, Ashville, Phone 79

The Ashville village official family as constructed by the citizens at the fall election, held its first meeting at the council chamber Tuesday evening with none absent.

Here are the family members by name: Fred Hines, mayor; clerk, Richard Willis; treasurer, Ben Morrison; councilmen, Frank Conrad, Clyde Hoover, Arthur Petty, C. E. Morrison, T. R. Accord, S. C. Allison; marshal, Robert Walden.

Mayor Hines administered the oath of office to those who had not already taken it. He appointed, as has been the custom for years, the marshal as street commissioner, so Mr. Walden will continue his work as in the past. Both Cecil Scott as deputy marshal and Bill Cloud as fire chief were re-named.

The three committees which compose the working divisions of the council body were named by the mayor and as follows: finance, Clyde Hoover, T. R. Accord, S. C. Allison; safety, C. E. Morrison, Frank Conrad, Arthur Petty; service, T. R. Accord, Arthur Petty, C. B. Morrison.

Bills were approved and ordered paid to the amount of $340.

This official family is composed of experienced individuals and if they do as well as they know, there should be no complaint on the part of those whom they represent. Best wishes, smooth sailing, and as successful administration is yours from Yours Truly, Ashville—The new manager at the Ashville Grain Company office, and as selected by directors of that organization, is Eugene Borer at present a resident of Grove City where he has operated for some time a feed grinding mill. He has a wife and two children, Wilma and Dana both of school age. If and when a dwelling can be found here they will be Ashville residents.

Ashville—This forenoon the C. & O. railway people gave its safety exhibit and talk to a sizeable bunch of employees at the local K. of P. hall.

Ashville—The weather man has been doing for the last few days a good job of keeping Old Borens well set about the zero mark.

Ashville—Postmaster Smith will give us his report on the volume of business transacted at his "shop" for the last year and, too, a comparison with that of 1935.

Ashville—Weather conditions have forced to a standstill work on the new church building.

HERBERT RULES ON STATE RIGHT TO END PENSION

COLUMBUS, Jan. 3—Old age pensions may not be canceled without cause, Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert ruled today in an opinion to Paul D. Michel, prosecuting attorney of Marion County.

In addition, Herbert ruled that the division of aid for the aged must pay hospital bills for pensioners up to $30 a month and that any additional cost must be borne by the city or township in which they reside.

In other opinion, Herbert held that the board of tax appeals alone has authority to exempt real estate from taxation and that trial judges may vacate a sentence any time during a term of court and may recall a prisoner already serving a sentence and put him on probation.

LEPKE TO FACE DEWEY'S COURT ON U. S. COUNTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—More trouble in the person of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today awaited Louis (Lepke) Buchalter. Shortly after Lepke, 43, got what may be a life sentence of 14 years in prison and 10 years probation for his part in a $10,000,000 narcotics smuggling plot, Attorney General Frank Murphy agreed to turn him over to Dewey for trial with four henchmen on a 23-count indictment charging extortion and attempted extortion in the bakery racket. Conviction on even the least of any of these counts would be sufficient to put Lepke away for life as a fourth offender under the Baumes Law for habitual offenders.

S. S. COLUMBUS
An incorrectly interpreted weather forecast may have played an important part in the scuttling of the German luxury liner Columbus, according to Captain Harry A. Badt, skipper of the USS Tuscaloosa, who brought the survivors into New York.

Clouds and a rain squall had been predicted the day on which the British destroyer intercepted the 32,000-ton liner. The captain of the Columbus was planning to take advantage of this dirty weather to reach the north Atlantic where he would be comparatively safe in the long winter nights.

However, either the squalls were late or the Columbus made better than usual speed, with the result that the tiny British destroyer Hyperion, about one twentieth its size, fired a shot across its bow in perfect weather. Late that night, when Captain Dache and his men were aboard the American cruiser and the Columbus was at the bottom of the sea, the storm broke in such fury that the Tuscaloosa was forced to reduce speed.

Captain Badt refused to disclose how long the Tuscaloosa had been "tailing" the Columbus, although he said he heard the firing of the British shot across its bow. Also he says that the Tuscaloosa did not assist in the detection of the fleeing vessel whose huge bulk loomed high against the horizon, an easy mark for enemy lookouts.

JENKINS, CENTER OF PRISON FARM STRIFE, TO ACT

COLUMBUS, Jan. 3—Thomas C. Jenkins, suspended superintendent of the London Prison Farm, was expected to confer with State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood today but was understood to have refused to resign his position.

Jenkins' 30-day suspension ends tomorrow and Sherwood has declared that he would file removal charges against him with the state civil service commission unless Jenkins resigns by that time.

Observers believed a legal battle similar to the hearing last Spring which ended in the resignation of James C. Woodward as Ohio Penitentiary warden appears to be a certainty.

The charges against the former Mansfield reformatory head were understood to be ready for filing. Reports were that they are of a sensational nature.

Jenkins was given a three-months leave of absence last Sept. 5 and when he reported back for work on Dec. 5 was handed the 30-day suspension.

William F. Amrine, state superintendent of corrections and former head of the London institution, is now in charge at the prison farm.

the school in its present form. Representative Melvin J. Maas, chunky Minnesota World War flyer and ranking Republican member of the Naval Affairs Committee, has a bill all ready that would do away with Annapolis as an undergraduate school, and transform it into a specialized institution with a two-year course for selected graduates of civilian colleges.

Target behind this proposed transformation is the existing system of retiring large numbers of young naval officers—ensigns, junior lieutenants and lieutenants—after the Government has spent millions educating and training them.

Maas has compiled some sensational figures on this yearly exodus. They show that after fourteen years only 28 out of every 100 Annapolis graduates still remain in the service. The rest, he claims, have been forced out on various grounds to make room for the annual influx of new graduates.

NOTE—Generally agreed, however, is the fact that the cut-throat competitive system of the Navy is far more efficient than the promotion-by-age system in the Army.

JOB INSURANCE TAX FOR LAST '39 QUARTER DUE

COLUMBUS, Jan. 3—Payments of Ohio unemployment contributions for the fourth quarter of 1939 are now due. Employers operating in this state must pay their contributions not later than January 31 in order to evade interest charges. G. S. Kallenbaugh, director of the unemployment compensation division of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation declared today.

As in preceding quarters, the payroll tax of 2.7 percent on employers' payrolls is due, subject to the Ohio state unemployment compensation law.

Contributions are generally payable from Ohio individuals or companies who had three or more workers in their employ during some part of a day in 1939.

In cases where employers fail to make their quarterly contribution payments by January 31, 8 percent interest will be assessed, Kallenbaugh said.

FASTER TRAINS
THIS is truly the age of speed. And the remark is not applied particularly to airplanes, which are by far the fastest of our modern vehicles. Air travel is not ordinarily very impressive to the senses, because in high flying the passenger is not conscious of the speed. In an automobile or train you can actually see and feel how fast you're going.

Well, a mile a minute is coming to be normal. There are nearly 1,000 trains in the United States now operating at this average speed and nearly 100 trains making more than 70 miles an hour. This is an immense gain over the speeds of a few years ago. Railroad speed has gained 16.7 percent in this last year and has nearly doubled in ten years.

All this means a big improvement not only in locomotives, but in cars, roadbed, grades, rails, bridges and so on. Also in management. It is one of the many evidences of a renaissance in railroad transportation.

CHINESE PITTSBURGH
WHILE bravely carrying on her war against the Japanese invaders, China is doing a remarkable job of industrialization. This is seen especially in the progress at Chung-king, the new capital. A recent article in "Life" says that the moving of 120,000 tons of modern machinery from the coast, a thousand miles inland by river junk, mulepack and coolie tracker, to escape the Japanese invasion and gain the means of resistance, was "probably the most herculean feat of modern times."

Developments in that ancient city are incredible when the handicaps are considered. New factories have been designed and built and modern industries extemporized almost out of nothing. The National Resources Commission under Economics Minister Ong Wen-hao operates 35 coal, tin, copper and mercury mines, 13 electric utilities and 15 industries. He extracts gasoline from vegetable oils, distills alcohol, makes steel, machine guns, rifles, bullets, cement, paper, wood pulp, radios, yarn and flour, and exports many other products to get the money for carrying on.

All this manufacture, says "Life", was either newly built on the spot with the most primitive tools or brought up the Yangtze River by junk or mule. Minister Ong is assisted by young Chinese graduates of American universities.

Here is a spirit and a kind of development that any American can understand. The Chinese may yet save China from extinction at the hands of the Japanese invaders.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

EVER IN JAIL? Some folks are accustomed to it, but it was a novel experience to me—not exactly pleasant, yet interesting. As a police reporter in my younger years I became familiar with house-gangs, from the outside looking in. I can see now that looking outside from within is different.
I was punished by mistake for somebody else and subsequently was released with apologies. I didn't accept 'em with much enthusiasm—very few "Don't mention it's."

ROAD BUILDERS GET HELP

WASHINGTON—Walter Jones, who is making highway history by building the new Pennsylvania turnpike from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh, has received a surprising amount of cooperation from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The railroad also operates between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, and because of grades and curves, the trains take about four and a half hours. But competing with it, the new turnpike will permit automobiles to make the 160 miles in two hours. There will not be a red light on the entire stretch, few curves, and almost no hills.

The highway takes advantage of the old railroad route started by the Vanderbilts in competition with the Pennsylvania R. R., but never finished.

William H. Vanderbilt of the New York Central had threatened to bring the New York Central into southern Pennsylvania if the Pennsylvania R. R. entered his field along the Hudson. This competition was viewed so seriously that the Pennsylvania patched up a truce, but not before Vanderbilt had already constructed $20,000,000 worth of water-level tunnels now being used by the turnpike.

Now, however, the railroad is giving all sorts of cooperation to a highway which is even greater competition. It has lent experts to Jones and extended every possible facility.

The other day Colonel Charles D. Young, vice president of the railroad, dropped this significant remark to Jones: "You may wonder why we have been so helpful to you. Well, it isn't merely because I like you. It's because we have five to six thousand buses operating around here and we've got to make 'em move faster. The highways are getting congested, and we believe people will pay extra for extra speed."

William H. Vanderbilt of the New York road, and this is the essence of Walter Jones' theory of road-building. He believes that new highways should not wait for increased taxes, but that people are willing to pay for streamlined, high-speed transportation.

TRADE TREATIES FIGHT
In the coming congressional fight for renewal of the trade agreements act, the principal shock trooper will be a stocky man with thinning grey hair and a glint in his eye—Henry Francis Grady, Assistant Secretary of State.

With grim satisfaction, Grady is already pulling in his belt for the fight. He believes there has been too much apologizing, not enough forthright display of facts about trade agreements.

"We always get a bad press in the hearings," says Grady, "because the hearings, with no rebuttal. The newsmen give a full account of what a lobbyist or a Congressman has said about 'ruining' the shoe industry or the cattle industry, or the production of turkeys. And we never try to fight back."

Result, according to Grady, is a lot of false information. "The other day," he says, "two Congressmen complained to me about our having reduced the tariff on lead. They were surprised when I told

If anybody HAD known (as nobody did) that I was corked up inside, he or she couldn't have reached me. And I couldn't holler for a rescue, because there wasn't anybody, except my neighboring cellmates, to holler to.

IMPRISONMENT'S MONOTONOUS
Believe me, a cell can become monotonous.

The one I had was about four by eight feet in its dimensions. It had no window. Three sides of it were just blank wall. It did look out on a corridor, but there were no windows in the corridor, either. It simply was electrically lighted.

Now, this matter of lighting means something. One of the things that the desk sergeant

Europe's Medicinal Baths—in Your Own Tub

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What is your opinion of the medicinal baths which are so widely used in Europe? Can these be imitated in an average American home?

The most famous of the European baths were the Naheim baths and the Woodhall baths in England. The "Sprudel" water of Naheim was a naturally warm, salty solution, which was carbonated. The temperature was about 90°. It was used for functional heart troubles and mild heart failure. It was also accompanied by graduated exercises given by the brothers Schott. The theory was that the impingement of the carbonated particles on the skin stimulated the circulation and toned the heart and blood vessels.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Artificial Naheim baths can be prepared in any bathroom in the United States and the ingredients are sold in package form. The baths can be imitated with the use of 22 ounces of sodium sulfate and 32 ounces of sodium bicarbonate added to 40 gallons of warm water at a temperature of 93° F. A rubber bath mat should be used in the bottom of the tub in order to prevent erosion of the enamel.

The Woodhall bath in Lincolnshire, England, can be copied by using very small amounts of potassium iodide and potassium bromide in water at average temperature. It is doubtful whether any absorption of these materials occurs through the skin while an individual is in the bath.

The Truth About Lie Detectors

Are lie detectors recognized as infallible? To me the name "lie detector" is a purely imaginative and fictional term. I do not believe that any court has yet judged a criminal case solely on the evidence of a lie detector. In my opinion, courts are certainly not justified in accepting such evidence.

Translation of emotional reactions into physiological terms is by no means standardized. A number of polygraphs and psychographs and photopolygraphs are on the market but no agreement exists as to their reliability.
Those interested should refer to a book called Lying and Its Detection, published by the University of Chicago Press, and written by John A. Larson. The latest publication is

CONTRACT BRIDGE

YOU KNOW, HE DOESN'T
THERE ARE always facts about your own hand which nobody at the table knows except yourself, regardless of what you have told by your bidding or play. You may be able to see a sure defense against the opponents' contract which your partner cannot be expected to guess. To put that plan in operation sometimes necessitates your overtaking your partner's honor and thereby getting in command of the situation.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"
By Marie Blizard

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE
FABIENNE opened the door that led to the steps of her apartment house and the wind caught at the skirts of her coat, whipping it around her legs. The wind had died earlier in the evening, but now it was up again like a December gale, nipping her fingers before she could get her gloves on.
If it weren't so late in March, she thought, I'd almost think we were in for a blizzard.
The engine of her car was cold. It took a long time for her to get started and she indulged in a hearty "Damn!" Every moment meant so much to her. She wondered when Chris had risen from her drugged sleep and left. Surely, she hoped, it couldn't have been very long ago. Bill had said those sleeping tablets would put a hearty man to sleep for ten or twelve hours. It was less than six since she had left Chris in her deep sleep.
The car jerked, was still, jerked again, and finally the motor turned over. She sped rapidly into Fifth avenue, was halted by a red light, turned east and was again stopped by a red light. So it went all the miles of her route across town and up Fifth avenue, Park avenue and at last onto the East River drive to East End avenue and the Park Plaza hospital.
The street was utterly deserted as if it had been driven from the streets by the gale that swept icily over it.
There was one car, an open roadster, parked half a block away from the apartment building that housed the hospital.
As she passed it, Fabienne's eye was caught by the colors of the license plates and a message that flashed to her brain. She backed her car up beside it and looked again.
The plates were California issued.
She got out of her car and went over to the small roadster and with the light of her cigarette lighter, cupped against the wind in her hand, she read the initials on the door: C. M. P. It was Christine's car! It must have been standing there since she was christened. Christine away earlier in the afternoon.
It didn't mean, she told herself she didn't feel, that Christine was at the hospital.
She ran her car in ahead of Christine's, a hundred feet or so, away from the entrance, and got out, debating the wisdom of asking the doorman if Mrs. Parsons had come in. Lewis would still be on duty and surely he would remember her distraught passenger of the afternoon.
But Lewis was not in the foyer. A sleepy-eyed elevator boy, poring earnestly over an evening tabloid, looked up, recognized her and pulled himself to his feet.
"Evening, Robert. Where's Lewis?" she asked.
"Eatin' his supper, Miss Seymour. I'll take you up."
"Anyone else come in lately, Robert?"
"I dunno, miss. I ain't been here long. Ain't no doctors in, though. They all left by ten."
He let her off into the dim foyer where night lights burned.
A white-clad nurse appeared silently, showing traces of hastily awakened sleep. "Oh, it's you, Miss Seymour," she whispered.
"Good evening, Miss Brown. Fabienne answered in a like whisper, her eyes sweeping the sleepy calm of the waiting room and the shadows beyond. "I hope I didn't disturb you? I—I left my pocketbook here this afternoon and I—I thought I'd stop in to get it."
"Where did you leave it?" the nurse asked her, trying to hide a yawn.
Fabienne wondered if she'd keep her from going up to the second floor where the private rooms were, and how she could make her errand seem casual yet persistent.
"I'm not quite sure," she said. "I think I had it in—in—" Then she smelled coffee boiling and noted the half-turn of the nurse's head in the direction of the pantry at the end of the hall. She said, "I'll look for it and slip right out, Miss Brown. You'd better catch your coffee before it boils over."
The nurse smiled gratefully. "The wind always makes me feel sleepy," she said. "I simply have to have something to eat and a little coffee to keep me awake."
Casually Fabienne said, "It must be hard to keep awake. It's so quiet and calm in this hospital at night. Nothing exciting ever happens, does it?"
"Very seldom," Miss Brown said importantly.
"And the last of the visitors is out by half past nine?"
"Oh, always."
"Did you have many tonight?" Fabienne asked conversationally.
"No. No one, as a matter of fact."
Fabienne felt her breath escape with a sigh of relief.
Anyone not connected with the hospital would be unlikely to know about the private elevator which was the only one that would take a visitor to the second or third floors of the hospital. Therefore, if Chris had returned to the hospital, she must have got off at this floor and Miss Brown would have seen her. But Miss Brown had said there were no visitors.
"Would you care for a cup of coffee, Miss Seymour?"
Fabienne said, "No thanks. I'll have a look in my office. I may have left my purse somewhere else."
As a gesture, she went into her

Beauty Under the Chin

ONE WAY to keep the neck smooth and youthful is to carry the head beautifully, chin on the level. Lower the chin, throw the head forward and see what happens to your poor neck, lady. Muscles haven't a thing to do, so tissues soften. After that appears a fiddle-string condition or neck-lace lines do a ring-around-rosy. A little heavy thinking will avoid many beauty griefs that are of our own making.

Under-nourishment will show in the throat. Always we get back to that important matter of stoking up on good chow. Not too much chow, of course, because an excess of padding leads to wrinkles.

If time has clutched you at the throat and made ugly marks, get busy. Try this exercise: Place the hands flat on either side of the jaw, finger-tips up toward the ears. Stretch the neck slowly, gradually sending the head backward. Still with neck stretched and hands in place, turn the head slowly from side to side with a strong muscle pull. Casual movement does nothing. Fibers must tighten and relax. That process strengthens them, sends blood streams scooting about their business.

The high moguls and mogules of fashion believe that blondes should employ only the most delicate perfumes, like jasmine, lily of the valley or gardenia; that the heavier and more exotic scents do not suit the fragile loveliness of light-headed lovelies. Brunettes can get away with fragrant essences that have more body.

Suitable for the out-of-doors girl, who skates in the winter season, sails, swims and plays tennis when the good old summer time is here, are woody scents; there are many of them that carry enchantment.

Despite these ideas advanced by knowing authorities, the average girl will use what tickles her nose and nothing else.

Easy On Budget Dishes

HAS THE old budget hit the skids, suffering from the holiday blues? Well, if so, as is the case with most of us after lavish holiday meal, what about getting busy with some good but inexpensive dishes?

A frankfurter roast with a delicious prune stuffing is a grand dish; economical, too, since the recipe given here is for six to eight servings. It is made with one and one-half cups cooked prunes, one-fourth cup butter, two cups sliced celery, one cup chopped onion, two teaspoons sage, two and one-half quarts toasted bread cubes, two cups soup stock or bouillon, one to one and a half dozen frankfurters (depending on size). To make the stuffing, first pit and slice the prunes. Saute vegetables in butter to wilt and not to brown. Combine with sage, bread cubes and stock, season to taste and blend thoroughly. Add prunes and blend lightly. Line a two-quart casserole or pan with waxed paper. Line sides with frankfurters, placing one on top of the other, lengthwise, around sides, cutting some of them, if necessary, to fit the casserole. Press a layer of stuffing firmly against frankfurters to hold them in place. Fill center with remaining stuffing and smooth stuffing over surface of casserole to cover frankfurters. Bake one hour in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Remove from oven and cool slightly. Invert onto serving platter and lift dish carefully to avoid disarranging mold. Carve crosswise to serve.

Inexpensive, Nourishing Escalloped Corn is an inexpensive but nourishing and tasty luncheon or supper dish. To make it, line up two cups corn, one-fourth teaspoon salt, three-fourths teaspoon paprika, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt, one-eighth teaspoon granulated sugar, two-thirds cup crumbs, four tablespoons butter (melted) and two-thirds cup hot milk. Mix ingredients in order given and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Making fine dishes out of leftovers is one way of pepping up a weakened table budget. Spiced Potato Muffins emerge magically from left-over potatoes with the aid of this recipe. It calls for two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one-fourth cup butter, three tablespoons sugar, one egg, one cup mashed potato and one cup milk. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Cream the butter, and when softened, cream with the sugar. Add the egg, well beaten, and the potato. Blend thoroughly. To this mixture add, alternately, the flour mixture and the milk. Pour into well-buttered muffin tins and bake at 400 degrees F. for 20-30 minutes.

Pecan and Vegetable Loaf is a prize budget dish. Use pecans or other left-over holiday nutmeats. Made with two cups boiled rice, one cup pecans (or other nuts), two tablespoons each chopped celery and chopped parsley, two cups canned tomatoes (without juice), two slightly-beaten eggs, six soda crackers (rolled), one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon each pepper and mustard. Blend and pack in butter and crumb bread pan. Bake one and one-fourth hours in moderate oven. Allow to set one-half hour before removing from pan or loaf may break. Delicious with tomato or mushroom sauce.

Beauty Under the Chin

ONE WAY to keep the neck smooth and youthful is to carry the head beautifully, chin on the level. Lower the chin, throw the head forward and see what happens to your poor neck, lady. Muscles haven't a thing to do, so tissues soften. After that appears a fiddle-string condition or neck-lace lines do a ring-around-rosy. A little heavy thinking will avoid many beauty griefs that are of our own making.

Under-nourishment will show in the throat. Always we get back to that important matter of stoking up on good chow. Not too much chow, of course, because an excess of padding leads to wrinkles. If time has clutched you at the throat and made ugly marks, get busy. Try this exercise: Place the hands flat on either side of the jaw, finger-tips up toward the ears. Stretch the neck slowly, gradually sending the head backward. Still with neck stretched and hands in place, turn the head slowly from side to side with a strong muscle pull. Casual movement does nothing. Fibers must tighten and relax. That process strengthens them, sends blood streams scooting about their business.

The high moguls and mogules of fashion believe that blondes should employ only the most delicate perfumes, like jasmine, lily of the valley or gardenia; that the heavier and more exotic scents do not suit the fragile loveliness of light-headed lovelies. Brunettes can get away with fragrant essences that have more body. Suitable for the out-of-doors girl, who skates in the winter season, sails, swims and plays tennis when the good old summer time is here, are woody scents; there are many of them that carry enchantment.

Despite these ideas advanced by knowing authorities, the average girl will use what tickles her nose and nothing else.

Easy On Budget Dishes

HAS THE old budget hit the skids, suffering from the holiday blues? Well, if so, as is the case with most of us after lavish holiday meal, what about getting busy with some good but inexpensive dishes?

A frankfurter roast with a delicious prune stuffing is a grand dish; economical, too, since the recipe given here is for six to eight servings. It is made with one and one-half cups cooked prunes, one-fourth cup butter, two cups sliced celery, one cup chopped onion, two teaspoons sage, two and one-half quarts toasted bread cubes, two cups soup stock or bouillon, one to one and a half dozen frankfurters (depending on size). To make the stuffing, first pit and slice the prunes. Saute vegetables in butter to wilt and not to brown. Combine with sage, bread cubes and stock, season to taste and blend thoroughly. Add prunes and blend lightly. Line a two-quart casserole or pan with waxed paper. Line sides with frankfurters, placing one on top of the other, lengthwise, around sides, cutting some of them, if necessary, to fit the casserole. Press a layer of stuffing firmly against frankfurters to hold them in place. Fill center with remaining stuffing and smooth stuffing over surface of casserole to cover frankfurters. Bake one hour in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Remove from oven and cool slightly. Invert onto serving platter and lift dish carefully to avoid disarranging mold. Carve crosswise to serve.

Inexpensive, Nourishing Escalloped Corn is an inexpensive but nourishing and tasty luncheon or supper dish. To make it, line up two cups corn, one-fourth teaspoon salt, three-fourths teaspoon paprika, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt, one-eighth teaspoon granulated sugar, two-thirds cup crumbs, four tablespoons butter (melted) and two-thirds cup hot milk. Mix ingredients in order given and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Making fine dishes out of leftovers is one way of pepping up a weakened table budget. Spiced Potato Muffins emerge magically from left-over potatoes with the aid of this recipe. It calls for two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half cup butter, three tablespoons sugar, one and one-half cups mashed potatoes, one-half cup milk, four eggs, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves; one cup English walnut meats, chopped. Separate yolks and whites of eggs, heat. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming well, then add egg yolks, chocolate and mashed potatoes. Add half milk, then part of flour sifted with baking powder and spices, then rest of milk and re-

egg, one cup mashed potato and one cup milk. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Cream the butter, and when softened, cream with the sugar. Add the egg, well beaten, and the potato. Blend thoroughly. To this mixture add, alternately, the flour mixture and the milk. Pour into well-buttered muffin tins and bake at 400 degrees F. for 20-30 minutes.

Pecan and Vegetable Loaf is a prize budget dish. Use pecans or other left-over holiday nutmeats. Made with two cups boiled rice, one cup pecans (or other nuts), two tablespoons each chopped celery and chopped parsley, two cups canned tomatoes (without juice), two slightly-beaten eggs, six soda crackers (rolled), one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon each pepper and mustard. Blend and pack in butter and crumb bread pan. Bake one and one-fourth hours in moderate oven. Allow to set one-half hour before removing from pan or loaf may break. Delicious with tomato or mushroom sauce.

RED AND BLACK PRACTICES FOR LEAGUE SCRAP

Circleville Team Travels To Washington C. H. Thursday Eve

VARSITY IN FAST DRILL

City League And Pickaway County Games Add To Week's Card

Hot in their first practice after the holiday vacation period, Circleville High's Tigers were preparing Wednesday for their important journey to Washington C. H. Thursday evening for a South Central Ohio league game. The varsity quintet of Davis, Smith, Walters, Staley and Bowsher, ran wild against several reserve team combinations Tuesday evening, showing Coach Roy Black that the vacation period did them no harm. Black expects to use the same boys against Washington that have started all contests for the Red and Black this year.

The Fayette County Blue Lions, flushed after defeating Columbus Central in a double-overtime game a week ago, will be gunning for an SCO victory. Both teams lost to Greenfield by scores that were almost doubled.

Card Lion Star

Washington C. H. coached by Chick Milligan, will use Stanforth and Elliott at the forwards, Reveal at center and Card and McKinney at guards. Card is the star of the team, turning in buckets to tie Central and to defeat it. The Negro ace, shoots from any spot on the court and with either hand.

Coach Black believes that the greatest hope of his boys is to outspeed the Fayette club, so fans who go to Washington may expect to see some fast play.

The reserve teams of the two schools will tangle at 7:15 o'clock.

Whether the Tigers will play London Friday night has not been ascertained, London school officials to let Circleville officials know definitely sometime Wednesday or early Thursday. It is possible that the game if played will be on the C.A.C. court.

The high school games are part of an impressive card which opens tonight when the City League tangles on the C.A.C. court with the following schedule: 7 p. m., Caskey Cleaners vs. Western Auto; 8, Wallace Bakery vs. John Deere Tractor; 9, Eshelman Feeds vs. Glitt's Market; 10, Purina Chows vs. Stout's Pure Oil.

Washington in Feature

The county schedule this week, featured by Washington Township's trip to Pickaway, includes Darby at Deercreek, Perry at Walnut, Jackson at New Holland and Monroe at Saltcreek.

CHAMPION HENRY GOES INTO ST. LOUIS RING

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 3 — Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong, one of boxing's busiest men, takes on Joe Ghoully of St. Louis here tonight in a 15-round bout billed as a title match.

The National Boxing Association is certain to refuse to recognize the match as a championship affair, since Ghoully, who has been fighting some 12 years with only fair results, is not considered a title contender by the association.

Only three men were rated as contenders for Armstrong's crown in the last NBA ratings. This trio was Fritz Zivic, Charley Burley and Pedro Montanez. Zivic since has been dethroned as the No. 1 contender as the result of his seventh-round knockout at the hands of Milt Aron in Chicago a week ago.

Jacobs Ready to Name Galento vs. Baer Site?

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—Along the sports front today: Due back from Miami today, Promoter Mike Jacobs is expected to announce in a day or so at the latest whether Tony Galento and Max Baer will tangle up and, if so, where and when, with Miami believed to be holding the inside track. Galento and his manager, Joe Jacobs, regard Baer as a push-over and are eager for the fight as a warmup for Galento's proposed encore with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis next summer. . . . what a shock it would be if old Maxie would take a full windup with that right hand of his and flatten old Tony.

If Glenn Cunningham is as thoroughly washed up as everybody seems to think, Archie Sanson may be the sensation of the indoor track season which will start Saturday night with the annual Knights of Columbus games. . . . Other milers who will clatter over eastern boards this season including Leslie MacMittell, Blaine Rideout, Louis Zamperini and Chuck Fenske, with the latter the man everybody will be watching, unless San Romani finally comes through.

Mello Bettina, the former light heavyweight champion, is a 7 to 5 favorite over Fred Apostoli, ex-middleweight king, for their bout Friday night, but that in no way reflects the sentiments of the spectators. . . . Twice beaten by Billy Conn and knocked out for his title by Ceferino Garcia, Apostoli remains a great favorite by virtue of his blazing battles before he hit the skids. . . . He is confident he will come back as a light heavy. . . . he will make a fight of it, anyhow.

The lineup of Major League spring training camps this year will be:

Florida—New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Boston Red Sox at Sarasota, Washington Senators at Orlando, Detroit Tigers at Lakeland, Cleveland Indians at Ft. Myers, Cincinnati Reds at Tampa, New York Giants at Winter Haven, Philadelphia Phillies at Miami Beach, Boston Bees at Bradenton, Brooklyn Dodgers at Clearwater; California—Philadelphia Athletics at Anaheim, Chicago White Sox at Pasadena, Pittsburgh Pirates at San Bernardino, Chicago Cubs at Santa Catalina Island; Texas—St. Louis Browns at San Antonio.

One more club and Florida would have an even dozen and maybe make it next year with the Browns or Athletics.

RULES TO BAR TROY FROM TILT WITH TEXAS A. M.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3—A Pacific Coast conference regulation will not permit the Trojans of Southern California, winners of the Pasadena Rose Bowl game, meet the Texas Aggies in a charity game for the benefit of the needy Finns, it was declared today.

The Texas Aggies, who trimmed Tulane in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans Monday, were approached to see if they would like to meet the Trojans, who humbled the mighty Vols of Tennessee, about the middle of January.

They liked the idea, but when Willis O. Hunter, athletic director of U. S. C., was informed of the plan, he said that the Pacific Coast season was ended.

"A Pacific Coast conference rule," he said, "prohibits division of gate receipts with any third party. Worthy as the Finnish cause might be, it would be necessary to obtain conference approval before we could act on such a proposal."

DAYTON LISTS MINUS TWO

Highway Patrol Says All Roads Clear, But Urges 'Emergency' Travel

The mercury hit the zero mark Wednesday for the second time this week. The previous zero recording was Monday morning. Tuesday's highest temperature was 17 degrees.

The state weather bureau forecast low temperatures until Thursday when the mercury is expected to climb near the freezing line.

The zero recordings in Circleville are the lowest in two years. The previous recording of a zero temperature was December 12, 1937. Lowest for the winter of 1938-39 was seven degrees.

Clear skies were forecast for late Wednesday. Streets and highways, icy during the holiday season are clear.

By International News Service
Ohioans faced another day of frigid temperatures today, as weather forecasters promised a lull of near zero temperatures tomorrow afternoon.

Fair and continued cold was the forecast for today but slowly rising temperatures, except along Lake Erie, were promised for tomorrow.

Columbus reported a low temperature last night of one above zero. In Cincinnati it was four above and in Cleveland relatively warm at 12. Dayton had a two below reading.

West Union, in Adams County, along the Ohio River, had a reading of one below zero at 6:30 a. m. while East Liverpool had 10-degree temperatures and Cambridge 9. Across the river in Huntington, W. Va., the thermometer stood at 9 above.

The state highway patrol said all roads were clear of snow and ice except in the northeast section of the state where a heavy snow fell yesterday. 'Emergency travel only' was encouraged in that section.

MARIETTA, Jan. 3.—Ferry service across the Ohio River from Marietta to Williamstown, W. Va., was handicapped today by frozen stretches and ice cakes. Auto traffic between the two states at this point was hampered because the Ohio River bridge burned last September. The Muskingum River was frozen from bank to bank at Marietta.

many more expected in the near future.

Murphy recommended passage of legislation which would:

- 1—Bring deputy marshals under the civil service.
- 2—Have bankruptcy referees paid on a salary, rather than a fee, basis. The present system, he said, results in "excessive compensation" and leads toward judicial corruption.
- 3—Authorize appointment of 13 additional federal judges. These judges, Murphy declared, are urgently needed to expedite administration of justice.
- 4—Establish the office of public defender in the federal courts.
- 5—Require defendants planning on an alibi defense to give the government notice of the fact before the trial.
- 6—Permit the government to be sued on certain claims.
- 7—Require registration and a tax on transfers of all firearms.

The daughter, detectives reported, is an instructor in the Morgantown High School and formerly was employed by the West Virginia University library.

Well educated, she was described by police as high-strung and reportedly had suffered from a nervous disorder for some time.

Detectives said the mother and daughter had quarreled on occasion. They were enroute to their home in Morgantown from a holiday visit in Toledo, O., and had stopped off in Pittsburgh for the night.

One other daughter, authorities said, is a teacher in the Lewisburg, W. Va., schools.

General Conduct Of Soviet War To Be Discussed At Important Gathering

renew the struggle there at the first opportunity in a desperate attempt to regain the ground they have lost on the frozen tundra during the last week.

Although air raids were impossible in today's weather, it was reported that the town of Wasa was attacked on Monday by a fleet of Soviet bombers which dropped 230 bombs.

Forty residents of the town were killed, many more were wounded and much damage was caused, according to the capital state.

On the Carelian Front, a battle that flared for a few hours was brought to a standstill as the Russian attack faded out under the combined onslaught of Finnish guns and lashing wind and snow.

The weather provided temporary relief for the Finns on the Mannerheim Line shortly after the Finnish high command announced a new victory to the North—capture of a Russian military base at Attajoki, north of Lake Ladoga.

Finnish troops won this victory after fierce hand-to-hand fighting. Describing this latest of a series of Finnish successes that have put some 46,000 Soviet troops to rout, the Finnish military communique stated:

"When our troops took the base they captured three machine guns, a complete field kitchen, 400 overcoats and other war materials."

Reports reaching Helsinki told of renewed Soviet aerial bombings yesterday, but added that the Finnish air force and anti-aircraft batteries shot down seven Russian planes.

Other advices stated that following the Finnish victory at Suomussalmi, in which a Russian division of 20,000 men was annihilated, two more major Soviet units totalling 26,000 men had been caught in ever tightening-traps set by the white-clad defenders.

Ten thousand of these Red army troops were cut off from their bases and communication lines on the frozen tundra of the Petsamo Front in the Far North. Some reports indicated they might even surrender without putting up further resistance.

Another 16,000 Russians were reported encircled and virtually at the mercy of Finnish forces on the Salla Front, where, Helsinki authorities said, they anticipated a victory even more decisive than that a few days ago in the Suomussalmi war zone.

(In London the Daily Telegraph reported from Helsinki that reports persisted of food riots in Leningrad. The report added that anti-Bolshevik pamphlets had been distributed in the Soviet city during the night until Russian secret police intervened.)

Today, on the Petsamo Front, where the Russian situation appeared desperate, bitter, sub-zero weather prevented much activity for the moment.

Some sources reported that the Soviets in the Far North now will be unable to undertake any new offensive before spring.

LEGION TO KEEP ON IN CAMPAIGN AGAINST ALIEN

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—National Commander Raymond J. Kelly of the American Legion declared today that the legion continues to regard Harry Bridges as an alien agitator and a menace to American institutions despite the failure of the government's deportation proceedings against him.

Speaking before the Los Angeles Breakfast Club, Kelly declared that the legion will continue to oppose Bridges and all individuals of his kind.

"The legion," he said, "also will keep up its efforts to secure proper national legislation which will make certain the deportation of undesirable and conspiring aliens from this country."

MODERN JEAN VALJEAN REFUSED PRISON PARDON

CLEVELAND, Jan. 3.—Carlton B. Chilton, Cleveland's "Jean Valjean," refused to give up hope today although he had been denied a pardon by Oklahoma's Governor Leon C. Phillips.

Now an employee of the state highway department, Chilton tied with half of a two-year term for bank robbery served. Former Gov. Martin L. Davey refused to extradite Chilton in 1936.

Since his escape Chilton has lived a model life, but Governor Phillips called him "just a fugitive who will come in the door and ask for clemency if he obtains it."

"But there are those who wishfully insist, in innocence or ignorance or both, that the United States of America as a self-contained unit can live happily and prosperously, its future secure, inside a high wall of isolation while, outside, the rest of civilization and the commerce and culture of mankind are shattered."

It was to this end that Mr. Roosevelt asked congress for greater power in drafting reciprocal trade agreements. He pointed out that general tariff legislation was a tedious process, whereas the trade set-up was highly flexible and could meet day-to-day situations.

ATHENS COUNTY PROVIDES FOOD FOR 1,000 MORE

ATHENS, Jan. 3.—An additional 1,000 persons on Athens County relief rolls received food orders today, County Relief Director Fred Shafer disclosed.

Five out of every six families on relief received orders for the first half of January yesterday, but money was not available to supply all, Shafer said. Edward Knaub, an auditor of the state welfare department, then authorized issuance of the additional orders.

In addition to these, Shafer said about 500 persons, thrown out of WPA employment at Nelsonville because of the severe cold, were given food orders.

It was expected that employment of 800 men on state sponsored WPA highway jobs, beginning next week, would virtually solve Athens County "relief crisis."

Three fourths of the city's fire apparatus was called to the apartment building as firemen fought vainly to control the flames. The fire swept through the brick building so quickly that it was three hours after the first fire trucks arrived before searching parties could enter the blazing building.

All stairways were choked with flame before the first fire company arrived, and the interior of the building was gutted before the searching parties were able to fight their way in through the heavy smoke.

Approximately 40 persons were taken to General and Swedish hospitals for treatment of burns and injuries.

The extreme cold hampered the fire fighters as ice formed on the building and on the streets from water sprayed from the fire hoses.
